Opening Words

Welcome, beloved guests and blessed spirits, to this sacred circle where we come to witness and celebrate the renewal of vows between _____ and _____.

The elements, ancestors, and deities are invited to bless this union, as the Wheel turns and love grows ever stronger.

Intentions

Do you, _____, come here of your own free will to renew your vows, pledging your heart, mind, and spirit to _____?

(Response: I do.)

Do you, _____, come here of your own free will to renew your vows, pledging your heart, mind, and spirit to _____?

(Response: I do.)

Vows

Option 1: Traditional

I, _____, once again bind my life to yours, pledging to walk with you, hand in hand, through all the cycles of the moon and the seasons of the earth. I promise to laugh with you in joy, comfort you in sorrow, honor you in word and deed, and cherish this bond for all the days we are given, as the Goddess and God watch over us.

Option 2: Write Your Own

Handfasting Knot

As hands are bound together with cord or ribbon, each partner says:

"With this knot, I renew my pledge of love, loyalty, and respect to you. For as long as love shall last."

Blessing

May the elements bless your union:

Earth for a strong foundation.

Air for open communication.

Fire for passion and warmth.
Water for compassion and love.

Closing Words

Your hands, hearts, and spirits are once again joined.
Let this knot be a reminder of your promises, woven by love, strengthened by time.
So mote it be.
