

Research Interviewer Confidentiality Agreement

This agreement is made between the interviewer and the research project team to uphold strict confidentiality regarding all information, data, and materials obtained during the course of research interviews.

Confidentiality Obligations

- All information shared by participants must remain confidential and not disclosed to any unauthorized person or third party.
- Interview data must be securely stored and handled according to research protocols.
- No identifying participant information shall be used in reports or publications.
- Breach of confidentiality may result in removal from the research team and potential legal consequences.

Interviewer Name

Research Project Title

Date

Interviewer Signature

Project Supervisor Signature
